Before 1977 the strongest football clubs in Australia competed in state-based leagues. There were only limited opportunities for the country's best clubs to play against each other.

In 1975, some of the country's leading clubs signed an undertaking to commence a national football league. In 1977, the National Soccer League (NSL) kicked off with 14 clubs in the league's inaugural season.

The first match of the new competition took place on 2 April 1977, when Canberra City hosted West Adelaide at Manuka Oval. John Kosmina scored the NSL's first goal as West Adelaide went on to win 3-1.

Between the first and second seasons, Melbourne-based Mooroolbark was replaced by Newcastle KB United. Over the following 35 years a wide range of options and considerations were taken to introduce new and remove former national league clubs from the competition.

In 1980 the league first expanded, from 14 to 16 teams. Four years later the competition undertook its most radical transformation with a dual-conference system, based loosely on a northern and southern split of teams. In 1984 the league also implemented a finals system to determine the Champion team, after the first-past-the-post system had been used for the league's first seven seasons.

The national league reverted to a single-league set-up in 1987, and a one-off return to the Champion club being determined by the team that finished the ladder in first position. In 1988, and in every season since then, the finals system has been the undisputed method of deciding the Champion team. The first-placed team on the final ladder is honoured with the title Premiers.

In five of the eight 'first-past-the post seasons' (1978, 1979, 1980, 1982 and 1987) a post-season play-off series took place. However as these matches were not played to determine the Champion team, the records for these matches are considered separate to the national league records.

At the end of the 1989 season the league reverted from a winter- to summer-based competition.

In 2004 the NSL closed down, and in 2005/06 the first Hyundai A-League season took place.

The history and records for the A-League since 2005 can be considered as its own competition. However, as the A-League continues of the concept of the strongest clubs in Australia and (since 1999) New Zealand playing in a league format, with finals, records for the combined NSL and A-League since 1977 can be considered in terms of an Australian National League.

The Hyundai A-League 2018/19 Season is the 42nd season of the Australian National League.
